Brandon

Owner and Lead DJ 7000 Feet of Sound

The 7000 Feet of Sound Story

As a veteran DJ I started doing wedding in late 2014/early 2015. It was then I realized the company I was working for didn't align with who I was as a person. It felt wrong to hide prices and to watch the owner make up quotes based on how much money he thought someone was worth. To me transparency and trust were some of the the biggest parts of being a wedding DJ. I mean if you can't trust your vendors why are they working for you?

So in 2016 I started 7000 Feet of Sound. From day one we've put our pricing on our website to ensure we are giving you transparency. We ensure you know who your DJ is and what you are paying us. Building that trust from day 1, that way when we get to your wedding you know we've got this and you can enjoy your time with your guests. While we help you make epic memories.

"A great wedding DJ is more than just music. They are the conductor of your symphony of vendors ensuring that every piece of your orchestra is where it should and doesn't miss a beat"

“

Greatest DJ service we could've ever had for our wedding! Brandon was so professional and nice to work with. He demonstrated how to use the portal to set up all of our music and schedule, then he introduced us to DJ Big Mac who would be our DJ for our wedding day. Joe was awesome, easy to contact, always flexible with meeting, and incredibly helpful offering fun suggestions for the reception. We couldn't have been happier, every one of our guests loved their DJ services.

Jenn

I truly appreciate how you handled every piece of the evening. The music was amazing, you constantly checked in on US and always made sure things were how we wanted them to be. If I could give you another hug, I WOULD! We went back to the room and just talked about how you truly made things come to life, brought the energy and really showed up for us.
